Research areas

I have for more than 30 years been involved in microbiological research, focusing on microbial pathogenesis and inflammation. I have published about 180 scientific papers, reviews and books.

Interaction with society ("3:e uppgiften)

Lectured extensively on research policies and issues for different groups, particularly within the Public Health and medical community.

Written several articles on research policy and funding, published in our national newspaper (DN, SvD) and professional journals.

As one of the founders and board members of "Nya Munken", an independent (Friskola)"Högstadieskola", I have worked extensively on different educational matters.
