Prof Martin Lauritzen will give a talk:

"Neurovascular coupling and flow control in cortical capillaries".

When: Thursday, 24th October 16.00
Where: Segerfalksalen, BMC A19, Sölvegatan 17.

Host: Gesine Paul-Visse

*Professor Martin Lauritzen is an MD from the University of Copenhagen (UCPH) from 1978 and got his DMedSci degree from in 1988 after spending a year with Charles Nicholson at New York University. Prof Lauritzen is a certified specialist in and professor of Clinical neurophysiology and Translational neurobiology at the National Hospital and UCPH. He has spent the main part of his professional life as a translational neurobiologist. His main interests are mechanisms of acute brain damage, brain blood flow, aging and the blood brain barrier.