TomoTherapy® Hi-Art® cancer treatment system now available at Lund University Hospital

DIRECTIONS

CONTACT

Susanne André
Academic Secretary

Avdelningen för Onkologi, IKVL
Barngatan 2B
S-221 85 Lund

T +4646177501
F +4646147327
susanne.andre@med.lu.se

IMPRESSUM

©2009 Lunds Universitet. All Rights Reserved cumulatively and individually.
Imagery rights of Lunds Universitet or courtesy of TomoTherapy® Incorporated.

Publisher: A. Gunnlaugsson, Sydsvenska Onkologiska Sällskapet
Editor-in-chief: A. Gunnlaugsson, Sydsvenska Onkologiska Sällskapet
Concept and production: D. Marz and M. Smis, TomoTherapy® Inc.
Printing: A. Gunnlaugsson, Sydsvenska Onkologiska Sällskapet
It is with great pleasure we now announce that the first TomoTherapy™ Hi-Art® System in Scandinavia will soon go clinical at our Radiotherapy Department in Lund. To celebrate this we would like to invite you on the behalf of the Sydsvenska Onkologiska Sällskapet (Southern-Swedish Oncology Society) to the TomoTherapy™ Hi-Art® Symposium and Site Opening on the 23rd of April 2009. The program of this event is presented on the next page and contains international as well as local presentations.

The symposium is free of charge but please register to Susanne André, Academic Secretary, Department of Oncology, Lund, susanne.andre@med.lu.se before the 1st of April 2009.

You are most welcome!

Carsten Rose, MD
Chairman of the Southern-Swedish Oncology Society and Head of Department of Oncology
Lund University Hospital

Torsten Knöös, PhD
Associate Professor, Head of Radiation Physics
Lund University Hospital

Jacob Engellau, MD, PhD
Head of Radiation Oncology, Department of Oncology
Lund University Hospital

Special thanks to:
Scanex Medical Systems AB, www.scanex.se
TomoTherapy® Inc., www.TomoTherapy.com

With integrated daily CT imaging and a 360° delivery pattern, the Hi-Art® treatment system customizes delivery based on patient anatomy. For more information on this innovative approach, now available at Lund University Hospital please visit www.TomoTherapy.com.